

happening

Watercolor Group retrospective, through Ivory Park; open 1 to 5 p.m. Wednesday

pe photography by Kathleen Costello, at Barbel, 17 South Avenue; through

phs by Sara Augenbraun, December 2-

cut landscapes at New Canaan Gallery, December 17.

in the Snow" at Hastings Art Gallery,
ough January 1.

Watercolors and oils by Martha Kent Ja-tiram Helle Memorial Library; through

Watercolors, drawings and sculptures by January 1 at the Sackler Gallery on the atre, 61 Atlantic Street; open to public Monday through Friday and to performing evening shows.

by Ugo Mochi, December 3 to February
outh of railroad station; open daily ex-

ure: In Black and White," through Jan-rt, Sacred Heart University, 5151 Park

ined show featuring oils and acrylics;
ayton Avenue; open noon to 6 p.m.
5 p.m. Sundays; free admission.

Dentist reports new bridge technique

Dr. Peter Dantini, Jr., of Evergreen Road, a general dentist in Stamford, outlines an "inexpensive leading edge esthetic bridge process" in an article in the fall issue of the Michigan Academy of Dentistry Newsletter.

"I got the idea when working with a patient who did not want the metal to show or lose as much tooth structure as in a traditional three-unit porcelain fused to metal bridge," he explains in an article titled, Connecticut Bridge.

"Instead, I took impressions and sent them to the lab with instructions to make essentially a composite restoration that is reinforced; easy to re-surface or repair at a substantial cost savings to the patient," Dr. Dantini reported.

DR. PETER DANTINI, JR.

He said this process means "less expense, less time in the chair, less trouble, less tooth structure loss, healthier gums and a more natural look," for the patient.

Dr. Dantini received his doctorate of dental surgery in 1988 from Loyola University of Chicago, specializing in the latest laser technology and a concentration in cosmetic dentistry.

His professional associations include the board of directors of the Stamford Dental Society, the Academy of Laser Dentists, the Academy of General Dentistry, the American Dental Society and computer consulting to the Connecticut State Dental Society.

He is active in the Stamford Lion's Club, Delta Sigma Delta Fraternity and the Knights of Columbus.

TRAVELWORLD

166 Cherry Street • New Canaan

(Across from AmeriCares)

966-1128